Mayor's Updates On Matters Of Interest

As we close this year of Prospect's 50th birthday, I am writing to provide brief updates on matters of interest in Prospect. Writing these updates reminded me of how fortunate Liza and I are to live in such a special place.

Swearing in of Council members and Current Art Exhibition. Please join us at City Hall at 11 a.m. on New Year's Day when the members of Prospect's City Council will take the oath of office. Your visit to City Hall will also give you the opportunity to view our current art exhibition -- Clay Painting & Photography. (The exhibition will close on January 5, so stop by to see the art during regular City Hall hours or at 11 a.m. on New Year's Day.)

Sara Combs, a judge on the Kentucky Court of Appeals will administer the constitutional oath to our council members. I welcome two new members to the Council – Christian Furman and Sandra Leonard. Christian is a Professor of Geriatric and Palliative Medicine at UofL's medical school. Sandra is a retired lawyer, and she rejoins the Council after serving a number of previous terms. I extend my thanks to two members of the Council whose terms will end on December 31 – Frank Fulcher and Sara Hines. Both Frank and Sara made substantial contributions to the City. They served the city with distinction and good humor. I also thank the four returning members of the city council -- Don Gibson, David Holmes, John Clark, and former mayor John Evans.

Please join Liza and me at City Hall on January 1, for the swearing in and to enjoy the art exhibition!

New Development at Prospect Point shopping center. On December 12, the Courier Journal reported that a grocery chain had submitted a development plan to Louisville Metro's Office of Planning for the Prospect Point shopping center. The article indicated that Publix had previously made a request for zoning verification, and the Courier noted that Publix may be the entity that filed the development plan. I have been in touch with the developer, and I and others in Prospect look forward to working with him and his colleagues on this exciting new project.

New Leadership At Prospect Police Department

With the retirement of Chief Jeff Sherrard in October came the succession of leadership in the Prospect Police Department.

Trail Bash and a New Bridge in Harrods Creek Park. If you are not a regular visitor to Harrods Creek Park, I encourage you to drive to the parking area at the bottom of the driveway located at 6530 Montero. A new pedestrian stream crossing bridge is visible from the lot and is a short walk away. The bridge provides an attractive and functional connection between the west and east ends of the park. A little further down the walk is the canoe and kayak launch which provides easy access to Harrods Creek.

On Sunday morning, November 24, Prospect Parks sponsored a Trail Bash. The 75 participants in the Bash tried out the new bridge as they started their run. I extend the city's thanks to Tina Beavin for her hard work in planning and executing the event. While I did not participate in the run, I was present in the staging area for the entire event, and I had a great time. I hope we will be able to repeat the Trail Bash in 2025. If we do, I encourage you to participate or to join me in cheering on the runners!

Rotary Grant. The Prospect-Goshen Rotary Club Foundation awarded a $5,000 grant to the city to develop a plan to encourage our residents to recycle. We are working with a professor from Western Kentucky University and two of his students on the project. On November 23, the professor and students visited Prospect, toured the city, and met with Prospect residents and Rotary Club members to begin planning the project. I have visited a Rumpke recycling facility and a Rumpke landfill. I have long believed in the value of recycling, but my visits to the facility and the landfill underscored the significant contribution recycling makes. As part of the Rotary-funded project, we will likely organize a tour of a Rumpke recycling facility and a Rumpke landfill. If that comes to pass, I encourage you to join me for that adventure. If you have an interest in doing so, please text me 502-593-3770 or send an email to mayor@prospectky.com.

The Prospect-Goshen Rotary Club meets for breakfast at the Hunting Creek Country Club on the first and third Thursdays of each month. If you would like to join me at a meeting, please text me or send an email. I have found my membership in the Club to be fun and worthwhile.

Social Services. The city has developed a partnership with Eastern Area Community Ministries to assure that our residents have meals delivered to them if they have that need and have the benefit of other social services. If you or a neighbor could benefit from the good work that EACM does, please reach out to EACM through their website, by calling EACM at 426-2824, or by texting or emailing me.

Time to take stock. On December 31, I will have served for two years as your mayor, and I look forward to serving for the next two years. When I campaigned, I promised to support our police and our parks, and I have made good on both counts. I have been surprised and delighted by the many wonderful new friends I have made. We live in a terrific city, and I am reminded of that fact daily. My service as mayor has made me more aware of the importance of community, and I am heartened and thankful to see the community-building that occurs through the work of our city employees including our police department. Also contributing to our community are the officers of our HOA's, and the members of our Arts Committee, Parks Committee, Forestation Board, Investments Committee, Code Enforcement Board, and Ethics Commission, the wonderful volunteers who operate our library, and the equally wonderful volunteers who assist their neighbors with their recycling carts.

As 2024 comes to an end, Liza and I extend all best wishes for the holidays to you and yours!

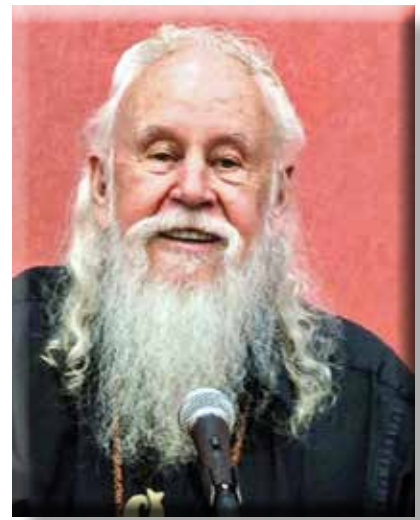

Doug Farnsley - Mayor

Coffee with the Mayor
 You are cordially invited to come meet with Mayor Farnsley and Chief Denham and voice any concerns or issues that involve the city. The Mayor and Chief will be available this Friday, December 20th from Noon to 1 PM at the Prospect Starbucks on US 42.

Art IN CITY HALL PROSPECT

Current Exhibit Closing Event
January 5, 2025, 2 pm - 3 pm
Featuring Lee Pennington
(Limited Seating, RSVP required)

Art in City Hall Prospect is pleased to announce that Lee Pennington, poet, film maker, and author will be presenting at the closing exhibition of “Clay, Painting and Photography” at Prospect’s City Hall on Sunday, January 5, 2025 from 2 to 3 pm.

Pennington, the 1984 Kentucky Poet Laureate, has published over 1300 poems in more than 300 magazines in America and abroad. He has had nine plays produced, wrote the script for the Moonshine War (MGM 1970) starring Alan Alda, Richard Widmark, etc., and has authored twenty one books. He holds two Honorary Doctoral degrees: Doctor of Literature from World University and Doctor of Philosophy in Arts from the Academy of Southern Arts and Letters. Pennington taught for nearly 40 years, the last 32 as Professor of English and Creative writing at the University of Kentucky Jefferson Community College until he retired in 1999.

You are invited to attend the closing exhibit. Seating is limited to 50 attendees. Please RSVP by emailing “citydesk@prospectky.com” to attend this closing event on Sunday January 5, 2025 from 2-3 pm at Prospect City Hall.

The current AICHP exhibit “Clay Painting and Photography” features 28 talented artists:

Dawn Della Bella * Julie Besten * Janet Britt * Beverly Bruntz * Catherine Bryant
Brian Buehler * Donna Chancellor * Allison Cohen * Leigh M. Crady * Marty Edlin
Steve Fleece * Kathy Finnegan * Scott Greenwell * Jessica Guinn * Nancy Zillox Hall
Helen Merrick * Tracey Morris * Judy Mudd * Page Penna * Randy Peters
Laura Hasselwander Weiss * Debbie Wheat * Karen Wyssbrod

Art in City Hall was established in January 2024 to celebrate visual artists and their work. The Prospect City Hall venue was dedicated and inspired by the artwork and life of the late Ann Farnsley, sister of Prospect Mayor Doug Farnsley. Mayor Farnsley created the space to showcase the abundant creativity of artists living in Prospect and surrounding communities and to enhance the lives of those around us. The City of Prospect takes no commission from sales.

Art in City Hall Prospect Board members include:
Mayor Doug Farnsley, Director of Public Works Ron Cundiff,
Exhibition Chair Janet Hayden, Becky Culbreth,
Marti Kuehn, Connie Kuhn, Janie Langhan, Kat Lewis,
Kathie Sauer and Jane Williams

Prospect Parks—What a Year! And More to Come...

Volunteers from Prospect got together in April to collect well over two pick-up loads of garbage from the side of US 42 through out the city.

50th Birthday Party held in October, a wonderful time of celebration for our city. In November, an “Art for All” event encouraged residents of all ages to major weather events, our Prospect Public Works Department worked hard to clear fallen trees blocking trails so that our community members could hike in the parks unimpeded.

Event organizer and Parks Volunteer Tina Bevin along with Mayor Farnsley welcome the runners to the newly returned “Harrods Creek Trail Bash” in November.

2024 was a banner year for Prospect Parks. There was at least one Parks & Recreation Committee-sponsored event each month. In January, children made pinecone bird feeders, and a lecture was presented on Bluegrass Geology. February continued the lecture series with a program on Amphibians in Kentucky. March and April offered wildflower walks and bird watching tours. April featured an Adopt-a-Highway cleanup event through Prospect along US 42, and also marked the return of Shakespeare in the Parks at the John E. Evans Pavilion with a production of “A Midsummer Night’s Dream”. From May through September there were monthly concerts in the Pavilion, which were enjoyed by all. In June, the first annual Kidz Fest took place with music and activities geared towards our younger citizens. July featured a Kid’s Nature Walk. Parks Committee members participated in the planning and execution of the Prospect decorate a snowflake/wreath made from recycled materials. November also marked the return of the Harrods Creek Trail Bash after a one-year hiatus. 70 runners participated in the popular 5K and 10K trail run, and all participants—runners and volunteers had a great time.

In 2024 enhancements to our park infrastructure included the installation of the much anticipated and beautiful Harrods Creek Park Stream Crossing Bridge, the re-build of the bench swing on the Blue Trail in Harrods Creek Park (which was damaged in one of the summer storms), and the installation of new trail signage in Putney Pond & Woodlands. Speaking of storms, after major weather events, our Prospect Public Works Department worked hard to clear fallen trees blocking trails so that our community members could hike in the parks unimpeded.

Scouts continue to contribute to our parks through Eagle projects. This year, two information kiosks were completed in Little Hunting Creek Park: one near Charlotte’s Playground adjacent to City Hall; and another at the trail head near Fox Harbor Drive.

In addition to these activities, Parks Committee members assisted with the July 4th City Celebration, the Forestation Board’s Arborfest, and the Chamber of Commerce’s “Touch the Trucks” event.

We are in the planning stages for 2025 programs, but stay tuned, as there will be lots of activities for community members of all ages. Interested in volunteering? Contact City Hall at 502-228-1121.

If you enjoy the parks and programs our committee sponsors, please thank our hard-working volunteer committee members: Tina Bevin, Carol Embry, John Evans, Lynn Granger, David Holmes, Abby Potter (’24-’25 student representative), Sallie Schneider, and Chrisler White (’23-’24 student representative).

Jacob Early and crew installed this Kiosk near the entrance to Eagles Way Trail in Little Hunting Creek Park.

The Bradford Pear Challenge

Prospect is proud to be recognized as a Tree City USA by the National Arbor Day Foundation. Trees provide many positive attributes for the community, but some trees also present problems. This is to create awareness of issues with Bradford Pear trees.

Once upon a time after their market introduction in 1961, Bradford Pear trees were the darlings of the tree world. They were used extensively in yards and to line streets in neighborhoods. Initially, the trees offered lovely form and beautiful (albeit less than pleasant odor) spring blooms. Time has taught us that this species has many issues that present potential problems, such as a tight branch structure that makes them prone to storm damage.

Trees, like people, do have a life span. Bradford Pears have a short to moderate life span. They may continue to leaf out, but it is likely that their internal structure is deteriorating and may show signs if the trunk is examined. Once thought to be sterile, they can also be invasive. Birds ingest viable seeds and spread them in their waste, creating tree populations that out-compete with native plants. Who needs more problem trees?

Several states have outlawed Bradford Pears, and at least one other is offering rewards for their removal. Bradford Pears have been on Prospect's "do not plant" list for many years, and also considered officially invasive by Kentucky. The challenge is the risk they present to property and people, potentially unexpected. Hazard trees do not have to be totally dead and may not present an obvious risk, but any mature pear tree should be considered for professional evaluation and potential removal.

Losing an established tree is never easy, but Prospect does offer assistance with new trees. Seventy five 3 gallon trees of various species were given to residents at the annual Arborfest in October. There is also the newer Canopy Tree program with a shared investment with residents that offers larger trees in both the spring and fall.

Linda Knox - Forestation Board Chair

Welcome Officer Shepard

The Prospect Police would like to welcome a new Officer to our Department. Officer Barbara Shepard comes to PPD after serving LMPD and St. Matthew's Police Departments during her 23 year career.

Officer Shepard brings a great deal of experience and professionalism to PPD and we are excited to have her on our team!

Prospect's Herb Shulhafer Recognized by Kentucky Chapter of the American Institute of Architects

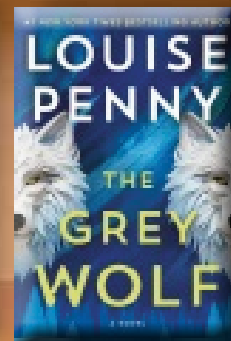

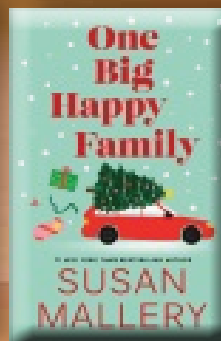

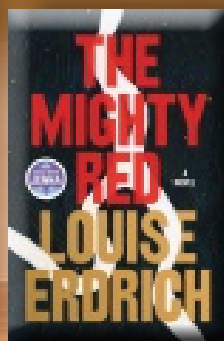

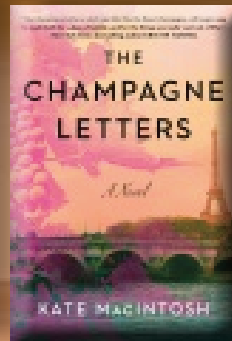

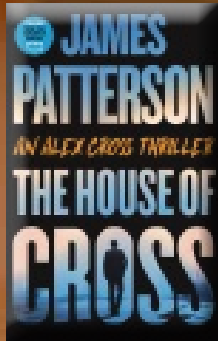

Earlier this month, the Kentucky Chapter of the American Institute of Architects presented its Citizen Architect Award to Hunting Creek resident Herb Shulhafer. The AIA recognized Herb's "extraordinary contributions to the Jefferson County community" and noted his commitment to public service and the betterment of society. The AIA cited Herb's work in Prospect as the project manager for the construction of the pavilion and playground in Little Hunting Creek Park and the pedestrian bridge in Harrods Creek Park.

Herb retired in 2016 following a notable career in architecture earning the status of an Emeritus Architect in Kentucky. In addition to his community work in Prospect, Herb serves on the boards of the Veritas continuing education program at Bellarmine University and of the Friends of the Farnsley-Kaufman House. Herb is a leader in the ongoing preservation and restoration of the 220 year old Farnsley-Kaufman House. Through his membership in the Prospect-Goshen Rotary Club, Herb volunteers to help tend the Woodland Garden at Creasy Mahan Nature Preserve.

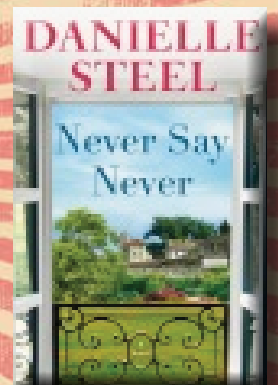

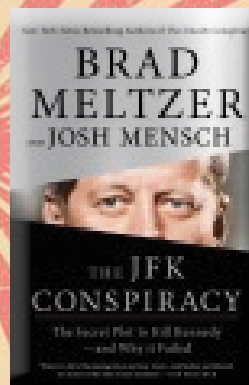

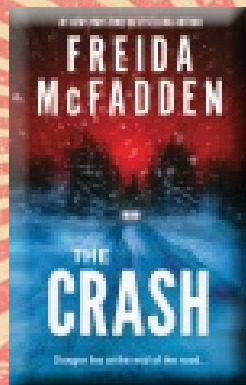

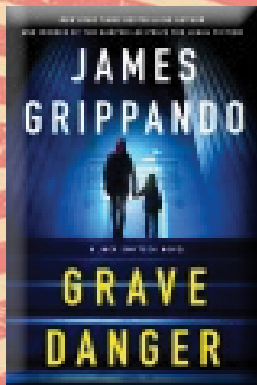

Herb is one of many volunteers who make our city a great place to live. We thank him for his service and applaud him for his well-deserved recognition by the AIA.

Discover the Heart of EACM's Home-Delivered Meals Program

At Eastern Area Community Ministries (EACM), our vision is a community where everyone is fed, sheltered, and safe. Central to this vision is our Senior Home-Delivered Meals program. With a dedicated team of volunteers, we're able to offer not just meals, but also the personal care and flexibility that make a real difference. Here's what makes our program stand out:

Why Our Meal Delivery Program is Unique

- * Affordability: We are committed to providing reasonably priced meals that are accessible to those who need them most.
- * Flexible Scheduling: Our program offers the convenience of flexible delivery options without any contracts or obligations. We work with clients to find a schedule that fits their needs.
- * Fresh, Daily Meals: All meals are prepared fresh each day by a local caterer, ensuring high quality and taste. Unlike frozen meal programs, our meals are made from scratch and delivered directly to the participant's home.
- * Healthy Nutrition: Each meal is carefully balanced to provide the essential nutrients needed for a healthy diet.
- * Personal Touch: Meals are delivered daily by dedicated volunteers who bring not only food but also a warm, friendly face. This personal interaction provides emotional support and a comforting sense of connection.

Impact Stories

Sally and Bob, who live with their son and his young family, rely on our daily meal deliveries. With their son's busy schedule, Sally and Bob often find themselves alone at mealtimes. They eagerly anticipate the arrival of their EACM volunteer, who brings them a nutritious meal along with a kind word. This daily visit not only meets their dietary needs but also provides them with a sense of companionship. Sally and Bob's son appreciates the reassurance that if any issues arise, the volunteer will notify him.

Raymond and Ethel's story highlights how our program supports those with unique needs. With Ethel's cooking abilities limited due to Alzheimer's disease, and Raymond struggling in the kitchen, our daily meal deliveries have allowed them to maintain their independence and enjoy healthy, fresh meals.

Get Involved and Make a Difference

Our program relies on the generosity and dedication of volunteers who help us deliver meals and brighten the lives of our seniors. If you're interested in making a meaningful impact, we would love to have you join our team. Volunteers are needed to pick up meals from local caterer, deliver meals to EACM, pack prepared meals for distribution, and deliver them along organized routes.

To sign up for our Home-Delivered Meals program or to volunteer, please contact Melissa Segó at 502-896-2316 or email msego@eacmonline.org. This is a great opportunity to partner with us by helping us make a difference, one meal at a time.
